20th Sunday in Ordinary Time –August 16th, 2026

Build Love, Not Walls. Fr. Joseph Juknialis
In Robert Frost’s poem “Mending Wall,” he tells how each spring he meets with his farming neighbor, and the two of them walk along on either side of the stone wall that marks their property to replace the stones toppled by the ice of winter. His neighbor loves the idea of a wall, inspired by his father’s advice that “good fences make good neighbors.” Frost, however, is not convinced and keeps suggesting that “something there is that doesn’t love a wall,” as if walls are not intrinsic to God’s creation.
We humans seem to like our boundaries. As children, we divide ourselves between girl germs and boy germs and draw imaginary lines in the back seats of cars. Later, we build walls everywhere—the Great Wall of China, the Berlin Wall, the structures at Mexico’s border, backyard fences, and gated communities. We set up national boundaries, build emotional walls, relegate people to ghettos and the “other side of the tracks.” We differentiate among religions, arguing over which is God’s preference. We seem to use walls rather than love to give us our identity.
Some Scripture scholars suggest that this Sunday’s gospel event was a turning point where it became clear that Jesus came to save not only the Jewish people, but all people—believers and unbelievers alike. Seeing the Canaanite woman’s faith, Jesus willingly cured her daughter. With God, there are no boundaries or walls—not those of nations, not those imposed by languages and customs, not those we use to divide people of faith.
